FORMER MARIONITE IS LOST AT SEA

Percy Biebow Disappears From a Steamer.

Was Former Resident of This City and a Brother of Miss Elsie Janis the Actress.

The following New York dispatch in today's State Journal will be read with interest here:

New York, April 16.—A wireless message has just been received by way of Halifax, stating that Percy Janis, brother of Elsie Janis, the young star of "The Vanderbilt Cup," disappeared from the steamer Minneapolis at sea today. It is believed that he either fell or jumped overboard.

He was 22 years of age, and was on his way to London, where he was to take a part in the London production of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Percy Janis, whose real name is Beerbower, is well known in Columbus, which was his home until a few years ago. He entered the theatrical world a few years after his more famous sister, and like her was first seen in vaudeville. When she leaped into stardom, he adopted her stage name, and instead of acting, devoted his time and attention to stage management. He was regarded as a very promising young man along that line.

The missing young man is survived by a mother and father and a sister. His father, John Beerbower, lives in this city. James Loren, the real estate man, is his uncle.

Percy Beerbower formerly resided with his parents in this city, and a host of friends will be grieved to learn of his tragic end. He was a nephew of Mrs. Irene Beerbower, of this city.

DEATH BLOW IS GIVEN THE ROAD TAX LAW IN MARION

Council Candidly Expresses Belief That the New Law is a Huge Joke and if Enforced in Marion Would Work an Injustice to the Citizens--Appropriation to Pay the Superintendents is Not Made--Wilson and Phillips Think Asphalt Companies Should be Given a Chance to Bid on Paving Contracts Even When the Property Owners Say They Want the Street Paved With Brick and Nothing Else--City Solicitor to the Rescue.

The asphalt companies should be given a chance to bid on all street paving improvement in Marion, even when the property owners say that they want brick and nothing else. That is the opinion of Councilmen J. V. Wilson and J. E. Phillips, as expressed at a regular meeting of the council held Monday evening.

The two councilmen made statements to this effect after an ordinance directing the service board to proceed with the paving of Girard avenue between Columbia street and Bellefontaine avenue had been read. The adoption of such an ordinance is the final step which council takes in ordering a street paved.

Other members of the council, however, showed no inclination to fall in with the ideas of Messrs. Wilson and Phillips on this matter. No one except these two members said a word on the subject. It was a little too deep for comprehension without a more exhaustive and careful consideration. The majority of the council seem to think that the asphalt companies are not in need of anyone in the city council to champion their cause.

Just before the ordinance was read, Messrs. Wilson and Phillips had held a brief conference in the hallway, evidently for the purpose of talking over the great injustice which the council was about to inflict on the down-trodden asphalt companies. To order a street paved so that these companies, if the plural term can be used, would have a right to compete with the brick paving contractors, seemed entirely out of place.

"I don't think that bids on this paving should be restricted to brick," said Mr. Wilson, after the ordinance had been read. "It eliminates competition and I don't believe the council should allow such a thing. If it is possible at this time I think that the ordinance should be amended so as to include asphalt in the materials upon which bids can be made."

"I am of the same belief," said Mr. Phillips. "I think it should be open to contractors for all kinds of paving material. If it is possible to do so, I make a motion that the ordinance be amended to include asphalt and asphalt block."

At that juncture City Solicitor Donthen stepped in and put a stop to this attempt to get the asphalt corporations in on the work. He said that it was too late to take any such step. He also reminded the councilmen that every property owner on Girard avenue signed a petition asking for brick paving. It wouldn't be right, he said, to force them to accept asphalt.

"I think that hereafter the council should not allow any street paving to be restricted to one particular material," said Mr. Wilson.

The ordinance was then adopted authorizing the kind of pavement that the property owners want.

The meeting of the council will be historic for the fact that a death blow was given to the movement which had been started for enforcing the new road tax law. City Clerk Fies read a communication from the service board, in which the council was asked to appropriate $650 to employ four district superintendents whose duty it would be to see that the law is enforced.

street from Wilson avenue to the Big Four railway, and on Cincinnatus avenue from Church street to Mt. Vernon avenue.

One of the reasons which Mayor Scherff gave for vetoing the south Prospect street paving ordinance was that the water mains have not been laid in the street, and he thinks that no paving should be put down until after the water mains are in.

S. R. Reber, chairman of the waterworks committee, said that he had received a communication from the water company, assuring him that mains will be put in on that street before the paving contractors are ready to begin work. This announcement came as a surprise, since the water company has for almost a year refused to put in mains on other streets.

All members of the council were present at last night's meeting, which adjourned at 10 o'clock.
